

Metal Only

Das einzig WAHRE Metalradio im Netz!

Band: Insanity (USA)

Genre: Death / Thrash Metal

Label: Unspeakable Axe Records

Albumtitle: Visions Of Apocalypse

Duration: 46:12

Releasedate: 13.11.2015

Nobody knows what he is getting into, if bands who have been active a long time ago unleash a new full length album. In fact, they often produce underdone albums that are only a reflection of yesteryears at best. No more than old fans listen to it as they bounded by nostalgic memories of the band. However, the guys of Insanity are the exception that prove the rule. They have rocked the Death Metal underground since the mid-80s and released their last full length album in 1994.

The opener "Sacrefixion" starts directly with hammering blast beats with no frills. The production could have been made in the 90s as well and may quickly conjure a smile on the face of fans of the old Cancer or Massacra. The blast beats mostly dominate the acoustic pattern but every so often thrashing tempo is played as for example in "Disillusioned". Well, they can also play the slowly tones but only to evoke a thunderstorm in the next moment. Overall, one can say that the blast beats as well as the mid-tempo parts are the best of it as one can listen in e.g. "Tired". There are no reason to fill gaps on this album. Only the intro of the titletrack that should build up a dark atmosphere with the sound of organs in the background seems a little out of place. However, the song compensates for it in the further course.

Conclusion:

"Visions Of Apocalypse" has really turned out bloody well. More well-known reunion bands could cut a big slice of it. It can only be hoped that this is not the last rise out of the grave.

Rating: 9/10

Weblink: <https://www.facebook.com/pages/insanity/57208433713>

Lineup:

Falko Bolte - Vocals/Bass

Ivan Munguia - Guitar

Dave Gorsuch - Vocals/Guitar

Juan Casarez - Drums

Tracklist:

01. Sacrefixion
02. When
03. Sociopath
04. Mortification
05. Disillusioned
06. Dread The Dawn
07. Tired
08. Blind
09. Visions Of Apocalypse

Author: Thrash Maniac 666 / Translator: Dine